Mysteries of the Universe

The Explosion at Chernobyl

On April 25, 1986 the No. 4 nuclear reactor at Chernobyl in the Soviet Union exploded. It took hundreds of helicopter missions dropping thousands of tons of sand, clay and boron into the inferno to extinguish the flames. The mystery here lies in the long term effects of the radioactive cloud that spread over most of Europe and deposited large quantities of contaminated particles.

1945-1995 50th Anniversary Of the end of World War II The final months . . .

On the night of February 13/24 there is a massive RAF attack on Dresden by 773 Lancaster bombers, this is followed by daylight attacks by the US Eighth Air Force on the 14th and 15th involving another 600 aircraft. The greatest damage is done in the RAF raid when a horrific fire storm devastates the city. An estimated 70,000 people died as a result of the raids.
